

NEWS RELEASE REGARDING THE SEPTEMBER 2026 MEETING OF THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY OF CASEILLE

Cheeseburger Museum steals show at history meeting

A summary and review of the Cheeseburger Museum during this year's annual festival was the highlight of the September meeting of the Historical Society of Caseville.

Members at the September 17 meeting learned that more than 1,100 visitors toured the museum during the 10-day event, all 500 Key Lime Pie Bars were snapped up, more than 1,000 took written stabs at the "What is It" contest, and many participated in the raffle of 32 gift baskets donated by local merchants. 16 members volunteered at the museum during the festival, with about half greeting visitors every afternoon of the event. Thanks to Cathy Snider, event chair, and to all who helped make this another successful event.

The meeting also included a final preview of the annual car, truck, and tractor show and our plans for participating in Museum Weekend, the annual Huron County Historical Society event where each museum in the county is featured and open to the public.

A report from Membership Committee during the meeting welcomed three new members: Barbara Patrick, David Donnellon, and Norma Jean Batkie. Patrice Warden Sinclair was a guest at the meeting and became a member before its end.

The Museum and Archival Committee reported during the meeting that 58 visitors toured the museum during the past month, excluding events. Donations to the museum in the past month came from: Ann Miller, Dana & Shannon Blair, Caseville Chamber of Commerce & Kent Collett.

The next regular monthly meeting will be at 10 a.m. Thursday Oct. 15, 2026. All meetings are open to the public and everyone is invited to attend.
